catering manager

Catering Manager newsletter is published in association with the Catering Managers Association of Great Britain and the Channel Islands.

Its primary function is to publish news items of particular interest to catering management professionals. Topics include training, legislation, new products and events. It also carries news from the Catering Managers Association.

This is a controlled circulation title, distributed free of charge to qualifying professionals in the industry. It is distributed widely within the field to managers in all sectors, for example public and civil service, the armed forces, the prison service, the health service, airports and airlines, major private companies and, of course, hotels and restaurants from large international chains to small independent establishments.

Content

News of company and product development from the catering, food and equipment manufacturing and supply sectors is welcomed and selected for publication according to topicality and available space.

We do not have advance information on features likely to appear in this publication as it is the primary intention that each issue will contain items of topical interest for our readers, with news from around the industry, information concerning research, regulations and legislation, also staff recruitment and training.
